

VocTech Seed Fund 2017

Ufi works to raise UK skills levels by promoting digital solutions for vocational learning

Digital tech can transform how vocational learning happens and 'scale up' this impact to bring more learning, to more people, in more places, more of the time

VocTech Seed funds fund development and testing of innovative, creative projects with new ideas for vocational learning delivery

Projects with good understanding of the vocational learning market which show how learning will be delivered as well as technical developments

Ambitious projects with the potential to scale up and reach a large number of learners with a vision for their future route to market

Call open from 24 April to 25 May 2017

Funding of £50,000 is available for projects lasting up to 12 months

Open to all industries, sectors and technologies
